UNESCO- Bioethics Unit

Value added course on "Professional Ethics and Human values"

SGT University aims at holistic development of the students focusing on the personality development as a professional along with personal development as a human being. In order to ensure that our students develop the desired set of professional and personal competencies, it is important that Value added courses are introduced in all the programmes to help the students acquire the necessary skills for their professional and personal growth.

SGT University focuses on mainly 3 thrust areas i.e Leadership, Innovation and Ethics as evident in its logo. In order to inculcate ethics in our students, the UNESCO Bioethics unit of University proposes to start a value added course on "Professional Ethics and Human Values". Ethics is an integral part of all professions whether medical, dental, business, fashion, journalism, pharmacy, nursing etc. A sound knowledge and practice of ethics and values in general and in particular professions is extremely necessary for any individual to succeed. Hence, it is important to teach our students about ethics in general and specific professional ethics.

This value added course on "Professional Ethics and Human Values" will be starting from 10th January 2019 and will be of 32-34 hrs duration. The following are details about the course:

Dear Sir/Madam,

As you all are aware that NAAC specifically asks for "Professional Ethics and Human Values" course. As a result, we shall be starting a CBCS course on "Professional Ethics and Human Values" for UG students and PG students. So, we shall be starting a 32-34 hrs course of which 20 hrs shall be on General Ethics and shall be taken as per the schedule attached herewith. These topics shall be common for all faculties and shall be taken centrally through live streaming of lectures from a base point. The lecture streaming shall be done in appropriate lecture theatres in each block so that concerned students can attend that. These topics shall be taken by faculty members as notified in the schedule.

The discipline specific ethics of 12-14 hrs duration shall be taken by the concerned faculty themselves in continuation with the general ethics course so that it can be finished in that semester.

There will be 2 papers of this course, paper 1 shall of general ethics and paper 2 shall be of discipline specific ethics.

It is to be noted that each Dean has to depute one faculty coordinator for this course who will be monitoring the students during video lecture and maintaining all class records which shall be forwarded to IQAC before the semester examinations. Since, at the beginning, students may not be able to participate in the lecture, it shall be one way communication, hence, faculty coordinator also has to bridge the gap and notify the faculty taking the class about any doubts/issues raised by the students during the lecture.

Also, which semester/year UG/PG students to be enrolled for this course in any faculty is upto the discretion of their Deans. However, it is recommended that students with some basic idea about the subject should be enrolled, so 3rd yr/Final year/6th-8th semester UG students and 2nd year PGs should be enrolled for the course.

Hence, kindly send the names of students who shall be enrolling for the course, the name of faculty coordinator and the list of topics related to discipline specific ethics to the undersigned by 7th January 2019 as the course starts on 11th January 2018.

Professional ethics and human values short term program

Outcomes

Professional ethics and human values can teach individuals a wide range of life skills that can benefit them in both their personal and professional lives. Here are a few examples:

1. Integrity: Professional ethics and human values emphasize the importance of honesty, transparency, and ethical behaviour. Developing a strong sense of integrity can help individuals build trust with others and earn respect in both personal and professional settings.
2. Respect: Learning to value and respect diverse perspectives and opinions can help individuals develop better communication skills and build stronger relationships. This skill can be particularly valuable in the workplace, where collaboration and teamwork are often required.
3. Responsibility: Understanding the impact of one's actions on others is a key aspect of professional ethics and human values. Learning to take responsibility for one's decisions and actions can help individuals become more accountable and reliable, both at work and in their personal lives.
4. Empathy: Being able to put oneself in someone else's shoes and understand their perspectives and experiences is an important life skill that can help individuals build stronger relationships and communicate more effectively. It can also help individuals develop greater self-awareness and emotional intelligence.
5. Self-discipline: Professional ethics and human values often stress the importance of self-discipline, self-control, and self-regulation. These skills can help individuals develop greater focus and concentration, overcome procrastination and distractions, and achieve their goals more effectively.
