POSTDOCTORAL SCHOLAR CHECKLIST FOR NEW HIRES

1. Postdoctoral Handbook: Please review the Postdoctoral Handbook: https://viceprovost.tufts.edu/postdoc/files/Postdoc_Handbook.pdf. The handbook contains information about paid leave, compensation, and other aspects of your appointment. The following are two provisions of the handbook that we would like to highlight in this appointment letter:
 - o Your employment with Tufts is at-will, which means that you or Tufts may end the employment relationship at any time.
 - o The first three months of employment beginning with your date of hire are considered a trial period. This time provides an opportunity for you to become acquainted with your new position and for you and your supervisor to evaluate each other in this work situation. While successful completion of the trial period does not alter your status as an employee at will, you will be eligible to use sick, vacation and personal days only after you have successfully completed your trial period.
2. Evidence of Ph.D. completion: You must submit documentation showing the completion of your Ph.D. degree to your Department Administrator or Department Manager. If you have completed all requirements for your degree, but the degree has not yet been awarded, you must submit documentation from the university that will award this degree certifying that all the requirements for the degree have been satisfied.

Approximately a week before your start date, you will receive an email from Tufts Support Services (TSS) which will contain your employee identification number and a link to eServe. The New Hire Tip Sheet is a great resource for help in completing the following required forms:
 - I-9 employment eligibility form: Your I-9 must be verified by the end of your third day of work. After you've completed the form online, bring the appropriate identification to Tufts Support Services in Medford/Somerville, Boston, or Grafton. You'll be able to enroll in benefits and obtain your Tufts ID about 24 hours after your I-9 has been verified.
 - Federal reporting: The University collects information about ethnicity and veteran status per federal and university reporting requirements. Providing this information is voluntary.
 - Emergency Contact: Please provide a person outside of Tufts to be notified in an emergency.
