

The image shows a digital course certificate from Coursera. The certificate is framed and has a light blue background with a faint map-like pattern. At the top left is the logo of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. To the right of the logo, the text reads "THE UNIVERSITY of NORTH CAROLINA at CHAPEL HILL". Below this, the date "May 9, 2021" is printed. In the center, the name "Kamesh" is displayed in bold, followed by the text "has successfully completed". Below that, the course title "Epidemiology: The Basic Science of Public Health" is listed, along with the note "an online non-credit course authorized by The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and offered through Coursera". On the right side of the certificate, there is a circular seal with the text "EDUCATION FOR EVERYONE" around the top and "COURSE CERTIFICATE" around the bottom, with the word "coursera" in the center. At the bottom of the certificate, two signatures are visible: "Karen Keats" and "Lorraine Aboder". Below each signature is a list of titles and affiliations. At the very bottom, there is a link to verify the certificate: "Verify at coursera.org/verify/VCHZSAQAHH9R". A note below the link states: "Coursera has confirmed the identity of this individual and their participation in the course." A large circular button with a blue pen icon is located at the bottom right of the certificate area.
